Transcription of Census records is often a difficult process. Although census records are public information, transcription of hand written records requires judgment, knowledge of the history of the area and it's families, and cross checking with other records for validation. Good transcriptions should have footnotes to explain dilemmas presented by the originals and choices made in transcription. The Coles County Genealogical Society, therefore, reminds readers that this publication is copyrighted and we ask readers to honor the copyright. The transcription is as accurate as our combined judgment can make it. The society invites users to notify us of errors that may be found.

Preface and Acknowledgments

First Edition:

This compilation of the United States 1850 Census of Coles County, Illinois was undertaken to facilitate genealogical research in this historically rich area of the country.

The Coles County, Illinois Genealogical Society acknowledges the salient services of the following in preparing this manuscript for publication: Mary Greeson, compiler; David Coy, indexer; Barbara and Richard Funk, editors; and Lawrence Bates, coordinator. Finalization of the initial work done by Mary Greeson was done under the auspices of Marjorie Hutton and Mary Lea Degler, first and second presidents of the Coles County, Illinois Genealogical Society.

Second Edition:

This project to update the United States 1850 Census of Coles County, Illinois strives to improve the previous edition. With new technology available today that was not available when the first edition was published, we have corrected errors and enhanced the previous document.

The Coles County, Illinois Genealogical Society acknowledges the salient services of the following members: Larry Bates, Kathy Hickenbottom, Les Hickenbottom, Ruth Isenogle, Joyce St. Michael, and Karen Zike. This project was started under the auspices of Larry Bates, and completed under Joyce St. Michael, presidents of the Coles County, Illinois Genealogical Society.

Introduction

A computer was used in the production of this project. Each page from the census microfilm was scanned into a graphic editing program, where it was enhanced one page at a time. Each graphic page was then saved on a computer and printed.

A word processing document was created from the first edition and after an initial edit was printed. Every line of this printed copy was evaluated by at least three editors and compared with the printed census images or on a personal computer where the image could be enlarged.

There was no attempt to correct misspelled names even though they are known to be in error on the original record.

Footnotes have been added with spelling variations to assist researchers in finding their ancestors. The term possibly refers to variations of names or information found in research by local genealogists or commonly known in the area. Also included is information from our research using census records, marriage records, cemetery records, local researchers records. The surnames in the footnotes are included in the index.

The left hand column was added to include the page number on the original census. Since there are several numbering systems used we opted to use the hand written number on the census.

This U. S. Federal Census of 1850 for Coles County, Illinois is published in book form and digital form on CD. The CD is produced with Adobe Acrobat and contains the printed book which is searchable, and images of the 1850 Census Film. The images are linked so one can easily move from the book to view the image and back.

The user of this publication should remember that literacy was not what it is today and that names were frequently spelled differently from one year to the next. There are obvious reasons, moreover, for misrepresenting ages or other information to the census enumerator. The census taker himself undoubtedly made errors in recording what was given to him. It should also be noted that the formation of letters used in hand writing of yesterday has changed considerably. Not only does the original record contain errors, but there probably are uncorrected errors in compiling despite efforts to the contrary.

The researcher would be wise to begin his search with a list of alternative variations in spelling of a name and samples of old handwriting. Most libraries have several books to help in this regard.

A form to submit corrections and omissions is included at the end of the document.
